MOSES Member Featured on Discovery Channel's "Jaws Comes Home"
Record it on Saturday, Aug. 18, 10:00-11:00 am!

Dr. Greg Skomal, MOSES member, a marine biologist with the Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries and official "shark expert," believes that a recent explosion in the gray seal population off Massachusetts is what's luring great white sharks back to Cape Cod. Greg investigates the great white's return as Chatham beaches are closed for only the second time in their history.

For Shark Week 2012, he is featured in this week's Discovery Channel's "Jaws Comes Home" (airing Saturday, August 18, 10:00-11:00 am (EST); check local listings for channel number and set your DVR). For more information and a video clip, please visit www.moses-ma.org.
